

HAPPY NEW YEAR !

All of us at the Irish Board of Speech and Drama wish you a dramatic, creative and fun-filled 2010 ...

Please give us plenty of notice ...

As soon as you have set the date(s) for your exams, please let us know so that we can pencil it in to our exam diary. The minimum notice that we can accept is one month. At busy times (especially just before Easter and in the Summer term generally) it would be easier for us if you gave us 6 - 8 week's notice, or more if you can.

... and an alternative date

We do our best to make sure that we examine your candidates on your first preferred date. As the Board grows however, this might not always be possible, especially at particularly busy times. Please ALWAYS supply an alternative date. And before you finalise the date(s) PLEASE check that they don't clash with school tours or other critical events.

Please use our Entry Forms

Please use the Entry Forms. They make the administration of the exams easier for us and minimise the risk of confusion and misunderstanding. We supply a set with the syllabus. If you need more, just contact us, or download them from our website.

Drama Workshop in LIMERICK

We're holding a workshop for teachers (and student teachers) in Limerick CITY on 28 February 2010, from 10.30 - 4, with sessions on Puppets (with June Nelson), Putting on Plays with Children - from casting to curtain-up (with Mary McCoy-Rudden) and Verse Speaking for fun, exams and feiseanna (with Deirdre Galassi). To make sure of a place, please contact us immediately.

June 2010 Diploma date

The June session of the Diploma exams will be held on 6 JUNE 2010 in the Stillorgan Park Hotel, Co Dublin. All new and continuing candidates need to have their Entry Forms submitted to us by 1 May at the very latest. Please ensure that candidates are familiar with the eligibility requirements for these exams.

Need Drama Resources?

There are loads of interesting drama and drama teaching resources on the internet. We've begun to pull them together to make them available to you. Every week (mostly) we update our Drama Teaching Resources Blog with some new ideas, links, lesson plans and so on. There's a link to it on our website, or you can type this in to your browser:

<http://www.theirishboard.blogspot.com/>

Find us on Facebook

We now have a Facebook page and we're going to use it for news, developments, ideas and updates. There's a link on our website which will bring you directly to it whether or not you are a Facebook member. If you're a Facebook member, please become a fan to get notification of updates to the Board's page.

Irish Board YouTube Channel

We're on YouTube too. If you know about YouTube, you'll be aware what a fantastic resource it can be. If not, then visit our channel at www.youtube.com/user/theirishboard (there's a link to it on our website, which will save you having to type in the address).

On the Irish Board's channel you'll find short videos about masks, mime, movement, puppets and lots more. And the start of a big collection of poetry readings. Wait till you hear Sylvia Plath reading her own poems – stunning! Or Seamus Heaney explaining the background to some of his poems. Or Jeremy Irons reading The Daffodils. Or Richard Burton as the First Voice in Under Milk Wood. Explore and enjoy. We'll update it with more stuff when we have time so do check back.

FREE Theory for Grade Exams

We've had 'Grade Theory: a concise guide' on our publications list for years. You can now download it for FREE from our website. You can also download (again for FREE) a very useful guide to Irish Board Grade Theory written by Deirdre Galassi and Finola Ryan, called 'Assistance with Theory for the Irish Board Grade and Proficiency Examinations'. Either or both of these publications contains all the information your students need to know for exams up to proficiency level. You'll find the downloads on our website.

Visit the Irish Board's Resource Centre

Please do visit the office. We'd love to see you, make you coffee and offer you our biscuits. We have over 500 books on poetry, mime, stage direction, the voice, drama, public speaking and so on. Our library catalogue is on our website. Just contact us before you come to make sure we'll be here. While we can't lend out books, you are free to browse. There's a map showing where we are, on our website and you can download written directions from there too.

Join IDAC

IDAC (the Institute of Drama and Communication) is the association of speech, drama and communication teachers in Ireland.

IDAC holds about 3 workshops a year, a festival of Speech & Drama, and numerous other events all aimed at keeping teachers up to date with happenings in the field of Speech, Drama and Communication. If you work in the field of Speech, Drama and Communication, IDAC is a useful organisation to join. IDAC members benefit from discount insurance, workshops with personalised notes aimed at class room environments and, best of all, general help and advice for teachers. Previous workshops have been facilitated by James Dodding, Tom Doherty, Siobhan Parkinson, Eric Weitz, Jonathan Neelands and Betty Ann Norton, with recitals by Paula Meehan and a host of others.

For further information visit www.idac.ie. If you want to enquire about membership please send an e-mail to David Meredith (an IDAC Board member) at join@idac.ie

Talk to us

Don't forget, we are here to help. Please don't hesitate to contact us if you have any questions whatsoever about the exams and we'll give you our best advice.

